Resolution text

From line 213 to 217:

5. In case of EC member's unjustified absence from the meetings for over 30 days, the rest of the EC has a right to terminate their mandate ~~and/or co-opt a new person until the end of their mandate. The decision should be made by supermajority of all the remaining EC members. When possible, the new EC member is elected via by-elections.~~. The decision shall be taken by supermajority of all the remaining EC members.

5. The concerned EC member must be informed and given the opportunity to provide an explanation before the vote. Following the termination, the remaining EC members decide whether to organise by-elections to fill the vacant position or to leave it vacant until the next GA.

Reason

This amendment clarifies the procedure after the termination of an EC member's mandate and removes the automatic co-option of a replacement, which could raise legitimacy concerns. It ensures that the decision on how to fill the vacancy remains with the remaining EC members, allowing them to assess whether by-elections are necessary or whether the EC can continue to function effectively until the next GA.
